

Managing Industrial Accidents & Crisis Events

What Your Company Should Do!

1 Who Should Attend . . .

This program is a must for anyone concerned about health and safety on the job including:

- ▶ Managers concerned about liability and workers' compensation costs
- ▶ Employees who want to learn proper techniques for protecting their safety and health at work
- ▶ Business owners who want to learn about compliance with MIO SHA

2 Why you need this Seminar . . .

- ▶ To reduce disabling injuries and illnesses to employees - and to ensure that every worker goes home safe and healthy every day.
- ▶ To reduce the high direct costs of work-related injuries, which grew to $42.5 billion nationally in 2000, and indirect costs, which were estimated at an additional $127 - $212 billion in 2002. (2003 Liberty Mutual Safety Index.)
- ▶ To enhance your company's bottom line. A strong safety and health commitment not only protects workers, it also reduces worker's compensation costs, improves employee morale, and increases production and quality.

3 What You'll Learn . . .

Attendees will gain insight into the nature of crisis events (violent and terrorist), how to conduct a crisis risk assessment and learn the importance of structure and operational procedures in a crisis management program. Participants will be led through an interactive session involving a critical incident scenario. This will be presented in a segmented format as the scenario builds from the response to the recovery phase of the crisis management process. "Thought Starter" comments will be utilized to stimulate the discussion during each segment of the exercise. Other topics include strategies for employees and stakeholders in trauma recovery and crisis communications and the different roles of public and private sector entities. Through participation in a desktop simulation training of a crisis event, participants may see and identify gaps in their own plans or procedures.
